AALL Guiding Principles in May 2021<sup>1</sup> and we appreciate the GPO's commitment to further developing

Law librarians and legal information professionals use to access official, authentic publications from all three branches of the federal government. Collaborations with federal partners to increase online access to historic agency documents, Congressional reports and hearings, and court opinions are key to ensuring that law libraries can effectively meet the legal research needs of students, faculty, attorneys, and members of the public.
